Rain Badly Needed. Complaint is being made that the drouth is working injury to end in this part of Windham county. During June there was an excess of rain, but the past two weeks have been entirely without precipitation. What the Census Will Show.

The census figures for the town of Killingly will show many interesting facts when they are made public. Parfacts when they are made public. Particularly will this be true relative to the number of persons of allen birth now resident in this town. There have been many changes in the population of Killingly since the census of 1900 was made. The Polish population will probably show the largest increase and the Italian residents are much more numerous, than they were a decade ago. The new census reports will also make known the proportion of the races that have taken up farms in Killingly during the past few years, for there have been many changes in the ownership of agricultural lands. Whether Killingly will show a loss or gain in total population is a matter gain in total population is a matter about which there is a division of opin-

The Johnson boy, who was with Philip when he was shot, is a school friend, son of Dr. A. B. Johnson of Maple Hill, New Britain. He was spending a part of his vacation as the Loomis family's guest. The actident er G. H. Jennings was called to the house on High street which is the home of the Perier family, the mother, Mrs. Julia Perier having been found dead. She was 62 years of age, and the mother of a large family of children who with her husband gurylye Loomis family's guest. The actident has cast a gloom over the entire cottage colony at the lake.

While the Bridges boy claims that he never did any shooting along the north shore, it is understood that he was recently ordered away from that section by one of the cottagers for doing reckless shooting.

He and Waterhouse will be given a hearing this (Friday) morning.
